INTRODUCTION

After the independence of our country, many opportunities were created for our youth to get an education. Especially nowadays, the interest of our young people who are hungry for knowledge to learn foreign languages is increasing.

LITERATURE ANALYSIS AND METHODOLOGY

Nowadays, the importance of English, which has become the language of the times, is very high. The first proof of this is the decision of the First President of the Republic of Uzbekistan I. A. Karimov dated December 10, 2012 "On measures to further improve the system of learning foreign languages" PQ-1875. This is one of the decisions that led to positive changes in the primary education system. After this decision, the methods of teaching English in kindergartens and secondary schools of our state began to be implemented step by step. Currently, children from 5 to 9 years of age are taught English through various games, as well as to develop their speaking and listening skills, while children from 9 to 12 years of age learn to write and read. A lot of attention is being paid to improving their skills.

At the moment, the number of English language learners is increasing day by day. In fact, learning English depends on age and environment. The younger a person is, the more suitable the environment is for the language he is learning, the easier he will learn this language.

Discussion

In recent years, learning English is not just one of the ways of self-development of people, but it is becoming a necessity. English is taught not only in schools, universities, but also in kindergartens.

In general, learning English is not difficult. It just takes a little effort and hard work to learn this language. The main tasks of teaching English to preschool children are:

- formation of children's basic communication skills in English;
- using English to achieve one's goals, to express thoughts and feelings in life aloha;
- creating a positive attitude to further study of foreign languages; -- arouse interest in the life and culture of other countries;

Preschool children are distinguished by their sensitivity to language phenomena. For this reason, by learning English, they can improve their phonetic listening and correct pronunciation, and increase their vocabulary. Lessons should be played with different games. Because starting to teach grammar to children of kindergarten age, it causes them to get bored and lose interest in this language.

It is necessary to teach the English language to elementary school students, i.e. children aged 7-12, with interesting methods and techniques. It is good for teachers to use such methods:

- gestures, facial expressions; it is understandable if the teacher uses gestures such as "come here", "open the book", "stand up", "look at the blackboard" when speaking to the child;
- through visual aids, posters, books;
- writing visible objects used in everyday life;
- you can learn English quickly and easily through news.

In addition, students of the 1st and 2nd grades should be more engaged in speaking, vocabulary and listening skills. At this time, their ability to remember is high. Together with their mother tongue, they learn quickly. Later, when they go to the 3rd-4th grade, it is necessary to work with these students on their reading and writing skills. Through these methods, they continue to learn English without any difficulties when they move to higher grades.

Summary

In conclusion, language teaching to young children should not be done as an obligation, but as an interesting activity, teaching using several effective methods will increase their interest in the language. . After all, as our grandfather Navoi said, "A person who knows a language knows". That is, by learning the language, we will gain an understanding of the representatives of that nation and their customs.
